
AFTER ALL THESE years we know it is sily for us to become upset when we are criticized for not covering certain activities of the community.

But we still do.

Get upset, we mean.

We have tried to build up a cynicism and a thick skin to go with it.

But, let's face it, we have a short fuse.

We know that we do try to do the best job we are able to do for the community.

But we also know we can't satisfy everyone.

We are well aware that it is impossible to please everyone.

Then, why is it, that we get burned, when someone wonders why we didn't give a big spread to some particular activity?

Especially do we get upset when the party overlooks the columns of space that had been devoted to the organization in the past.

It is like that old political saw of a voter being asked why he didn't support a certain politician in the last election, inasmuch as the politician had helped that person out many times in the past.

The voter merely wanted to know what the politician had done for him lately.

FOR EXAMPLE SOME OF you might recall that unfortunately the second annual Congress for Community Progress was held on the same date that the Orchard City Grange sponsored its annual old settlers luncheon and program.

The Press (we thought) gave excellent coverage to the Grange affair. Pictures were published before and after the luncheon, along with all the details of the annual event.

The second annual Congress, however, was covered "in depth" by The Press.

That is, if you can describe your editor and his two part-time assistants as "in depth".

But we have been criticized because we did not "cover" in person the Grange luncheon honoring the old settlers.

We recently received a nice letter from out of town from a real "old timer" who mildly chastized us for not being at the old settlers luncheon.

It was nice to be missed, even our correspondent didn't mean it that way.

But in a way we guess we should feel complimented.

After all, apparently that person is under the impression that the staff of The Campbell Press is much bigger than it actually is.

Shucks, covering the "Congress" in depth as The Press did sort of stretched everything, at our joint, you might say for someone had to mind the store.

AS LONG AS WE CAN remember, we have been fond of milk.

So we are always surprised when we learn that there are some people who don't like the white stuff.

There are other people who are fond of milk but won't imbibe because they are afraid the stuff will add unwanted pounds to their frames.

Those are the people apparently to whom the Central Coast Milk Council appealed through the series of ads that recently appeared in The Press and other mediums.

Although the ads did not mention milk, one could not help but get the message.

We wonder how many erstwhile milk-lovers who are weight-conscious took advantage of the offer made in the ad.

Two booklets, prepared by the National Dairy Council "The Food Way to Weight Reduction" and "Your Calorie Accenting Protein", were offered free to those who filled in and mailed the coupon to the Central Coast Milk Council in Sacramento.

The ad copy claimed that with the booklets "as your guide, you can take off the pounds and keep them away".

And especially did we like this particular phrasing: "start controlling your hunger in-

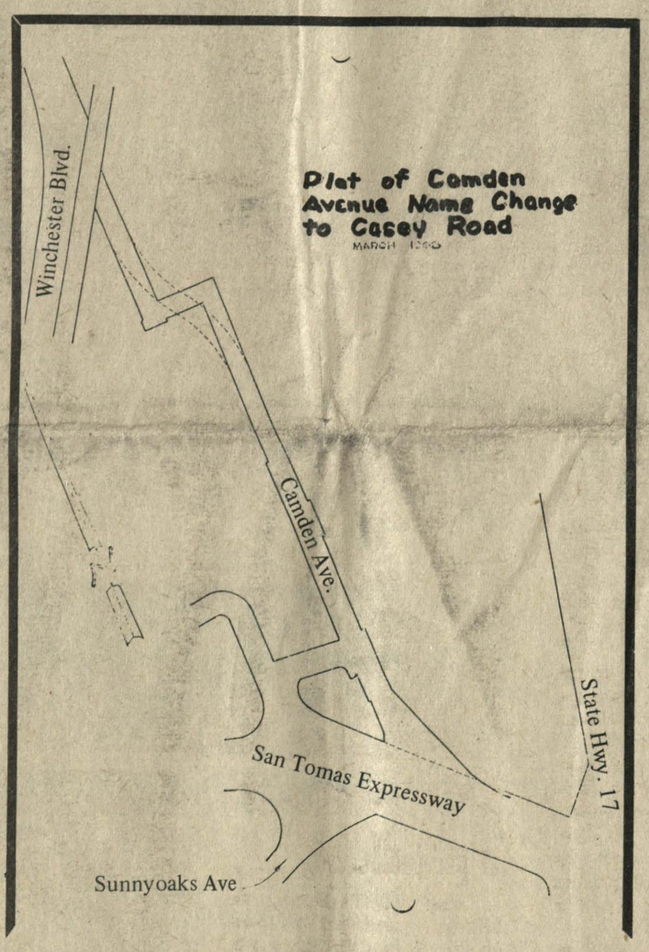
Fire, smoke ruin rooms

Prompt action by the Campbell Fire Department on Saturday afternoon confined most of the damage of a residence fire to the interior of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sifford, 959 Bucknam Ave.

But the fire and smoke still caused an estimated $7,000 to $8,000 damage, according to Fire Marshal Gene Borden.

Mr. and Mrs. Sifford were visiting relatives when the fire occurred and the alarm was turned in by the neighbors who praised the work of the Campbell firemen not only in controlling the blaze but in the cleaning up later.

The fire apparently started in the kitchen, according to Borden, possibly from defective wiring. The entire interior of the house was damaged to some degree. Borden said that 14 firemen were on the job.



Planners frown on Camden name-change

Camden Ave. will not have its name changed to Casey Road on that portion extending from Winchester Blvd. southerly to the San Tomas Expressway, if the Planning Commission has its way.

That was apparent Monday night at the Planning Commission meeting when, after a hearing held on the proposed name-change for the street, the commission unanimously voted against the idea of Casey Road as the name and sent this recommendation back to the City Council.

Playing a big part in the commission's decision to leave well enough alone was the petition signed by representatives from 34 business firms on the street protesting the name-change.

In addition to the petition a number of the businessmen were present at the meeting to offer their objections orally.

That part of Camden Ave. that was up for re-naming was originally called Casey Road (before it became so industrialized). It was also known at one time as Winchester Road, according to E.M. (Doc) Arends of the Campbell Lumber Co. which is located on the street.

Arends added that he had been in Campbell since 1942 and did not think that Casey Road had more of an historical significance than Camden.

The basic reason, it had been pointed out for the proposed name change, was that Casey Road from the freeway to Bascom was now in the process of being changed to Curtner at the instigation of San Jose. Thus Casey Road, apparently named after a pioneer in the area, was about to be eliminated as a street name.

It was suggested at City Council level that naming that two-block portion "Casey Road" would allow the name to continue for posterity's benefit.

Business people on the street claimed that they had already been badly hurt because of construction delays. They maintained that the name-change would hurt 'em even more.

The commission agreed.

Council may review licenses

City Council members next Monday, March 25, will discuss and possibly give first reading to a proposed ordinance that will allow the City Council to review annually the issuance of business licenses to establishments that feature topless and other similar forms of entertainment.

The proposed ordinance that has been drafted by City Attorney Joe Bonacina would apply only to those firms that come under the "regulatory" provisions of the city.

On the agenda for the council meeting Monday also is a letter from Hazelwood Home and School Club (Bob Veddy, president) calling attention to the fact that next year fifth graders will no longer attend the school. It was felt that city crossing guards would be needed because fourth graders are considered too young for traffic patrols.

The Council will also be asked by Wally Byron, city building official, to consider naming property at 73 N. Harrison and 313 Grant as public nuisances, a necessary step in getting them removed.

Second and final reading is scheduled for two zone change requests.

A NEW ROUTE--During the heavy rain and wind storm, recently, Roland R. Martin, 18, of 90 N. Milton Ave. lost control of his Volkswagon while shifting gears at Budd and Virginia.

The results are pictured.

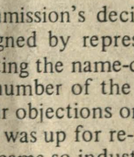
The little car slid into the cyclone fence, pushed over the bent wire and landed in the creek bed below.

Man killed

Campbell's first fatality of 1968 occurred Saturday afternoon, March 16, at Camden and White Oaks Ave.

A two-car collision claimed the life of Manning T. Allen, 53, 1358 Castlemont Ave. The driver of the other vehicle was Robert J. Raczynski, 22, a resident of a San Jose hotel.

Raczynski has been arraigned on charges of felony drunk driving and driving with a suspended license.



Storms during the last week brought the total rainfall in Campbell for the season to 13.60 inches with 1.57 inches falling in the last week, accompanied by high winds.

Last year at the same time 19.80 inches of rain had fallen with 12.89 being recorded as normal according to the Campbell Water Company records.

Candidate forum takes place on March 29

Co-sponsored by the Campbell Jaycees and the Campbell Chamber of Commerce a "Meet-The-Candidates" forum has been scheduled for Friday, March 29, 8 p.m. in the Campbell High School cafeteria.

All six candidates for the City Council have been invited by David Valkenaar, Jaycees, and Arland Hatfield, C of C, co-chairman of the event.

The tentative program for the event calls for each candidate to make a short statement, followed by a question and answer period, and a social time.

Co-chairman Valkenaar emphasized that the forum will give concerned citizens of Campbell an opportunity to meet and question the candidates on any item of concern.

The citizens, he adds, will also have a chance to make their own views known to these present and future councilmen of Campbell.

The candidates for City Council are: Edward J. Rogers, William Smeed, Charles Rose, all incumbents, and Henry Batis, Dean Chamberlin and Robert Dalzell.

ALL PAST PRESIDENTS--On Monday of this week Lester W. (Les) Harmon, a 20-year member of the Campbell Rotary Club was honored by the club. Gas station gets okay

Planning Commission members on Monday night gave their nod of approval to Fred Sahadi for a use permit for a service station on the northwest corner of Bascom and Campbell Avenues on the former Brynteson Ranch.

Before approving the use permit by a 5-1 vote (Merrill Grim dissenting), the commission heard Sahadi explain that the gas station could be the forerunner in the development of what could be Campbell's most extensive shopping center to date.

The service station would take up 31,000 square feet of the property, the former 40-acre Brynteson Ranch which was recently acquired by Sahadi.

Although the area allotted for the station (175-ft. x 175-ft.) was much larger than the average station, Sahadi said, it was only a small part of the major development which will allow for 300,000 square feet for commercial enterprises.

Sahadi also said that the use permit was necessary in the planning of the development, although some thought was being given for a "stand-up" bank to be located in the same area.

Sahadi added that he planned to exercise strict controls over the design of the station and it would be integrated into the overall plan.

Commissioner Grim, in explaining his no vote, said that he felt that a bank would be a much better project for the corner than a station, especially in view of the many stations now within a short distance from the corner.

Sahadi said that most of the stations in the area were not modern in design and surveys

A "political" institution

Dale H. Scott, 264 Radford Ave., executive director, Santa Clara County Taxpayers' Association, headed the finance committee of the Citizens for Progress, the group that spearheaded the successful drive last October for the passage of the $2,600,000 civic improvement bond issue.

Scott is attending the annual conference in Washington, D.C. of the National Committee for Support of the Public Schools where he delivered the following "paper" on information needs for effective education.

We believe it contains information that is of interest to all citizens. G.V.

By DALE H. SCOTT

Certainly, before I assume the burden of speaking for "the taxpayer" it is essential, in my estimation, to define the type of taxpayer organization I represent in Santa Clara County, California.

The typical reaction when the phase taxpayer association is used is that of a stodgy, reactionary, turn-the-clock-back sort of organization formed for the sole purpose of reducing the "high cost of government" by eliminating the "wastes" in public education and "exposing the cheats" in the welfare system. Such totally negative groups do indeed exist - unfortunately.

However in California we have provided positive and effective leadership in the taxpayer movement and therefore my first desire is that you dispel whatever notions you may have about "taxpayer groups" and permit my comments to reflect what I consider the legitimate concerns of the taxpayer and the general public over the need for a new positive attitude on the part of the educator to assure the needed public support for the future directions of public education in our nation.

First, I believe it is desirable to state a major premise that is basic to my discussion; that being that the local public school system is a natural political institution in every sense of the word. It is not, conversely an institution created by and responsive to educators solely - be they administrators or teachers or any of the other professional elements in our educational hierarchy. This may seem to be a truism to most; however many of the problems facing education today do not receive proper "political" (without partisan connotations) consideration because of a posture of professional "eggheadedness" on the part of many educators.

I would suggest that it is highly desirable that we dispose of the sacred cow of an educational system void of political motivations. A new posture will create a climate of discussion designed and intended to produce mutual comprehension rather than mutual suspicion. The difference I see is that while the general public has been and will continue to be suspicious of the political system they do comprehend the motivation and intent of that system. I suggest the general public does not share the same comprehension of our educational system. Such a misunderstanding creates negative attitudes which result, ultimately, in community conflict-conflict which I believe is too often created by the attitudes of the educational establishment.

Another major factor in the lack of understanding is, in my judgment, an almost total absence of adequate information systems to determine the effectiveness of the educational product. The "education establishment" has too often relied upon notion, opinion and formulae as a substitute for hard-headed and quantitative factfinding. In California we are proceeding with a major effort to seek answers to these questions.

I suggest it is no longer possible to elicit the required public support for education unless we are able to better define the results of our educational efforts and justify the required new sources of financial support. As Dr. Charles Benson has stated, "We are not at a juncture in the United States where a concern with the efficient expenditure of public funds will strengthen our commitment to the goal of equal education opportunity."

Major efforts must be made in the future to produce information systems that will allow the policymakers to effectively make decisions. To quote California Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, "...not until representatives of education realize that they must depend on informed policymakers, rather than dictating policy themselves, will the states support their public schools as they should be supported."

Our California program is designed to apply the techniques of program budgeting to our total school system. Last year our Legislature created and funded an Advisory Commission on School District Budgeting and Accounting and charged the Commission with the responsibility of implementing program budgeting in our school districts. Our Commission has been in existence for four months so we have only made a beginning. However let me point out that our mandate is to develop the plan to be implemented - our Legislature has already made the necessary basic commitment to program budgeting in education.

A major factor in any system of program budgeting is the establishment of realistic goals. I believe one of the major shortcomings of the educational system has been the near total failure to define goals that may be expressed in operational or quantitative terminology. This problem of goal setting has strong political overtones and I believe, therefore, one of the major reasons effective goals have not been established is that they may produce local political debate.

To those who believe that the lack of political debate in the educational system is desirable may I point out the other side of the coin - that being that the present generalized goals statements have failed to produce the required understanding, acceptance and fiscal commitment to the system by the taxpayers. Too often the failure to come to grips with the hard problems of goal definition has produced educational sterility. Effective and meaningful goals that may be implemented and evaluated in quantitative terms are absolutely essential if we are to effectively deal with the multitude of problems we face in our techological and sociological development.

However, the task of defining goals and determining objectives cannot be totally legislated. The Legislature can establish reporting and budgeting standards but they cannot, in the end, legislate a requirement that goals be a meaningful educational statement - unless they wish to establish the goals themselves - a task that I do not believe desirable or possible. The task must rest with the locally elected board and will require new attitudes by the educator who must act to execute and not make policy.

The need for new financial resources must be matched by a recognition that until educators become more precise in their definitions of resource needs they will continue to suffer from a widening of the educational credibility gap.

Ultimately the power in public education must rest with the taxpayer. Whatever the educator may decide as being necessary and desirable must ultimately, in some fashion, be ratified by the taxpayer and voter.

In closing I believe the taxpayer is aware of and sympathetic to the needs of education. I second the eloquent statement of Senator Gaylord Nelson that, "... the political leaders (and I add educators) who can see far enough ahead to propose creative, worthwhile answers to the educational problems of the future will find a broad base of support from citizens in all parts of our American society."

"WHEN DOES HE teach?"...That was the heading of an editorial by a contemporary of ours recently that touched on some of the places visited by Harry Edwards, the assistant professor of sociology at San Jose State.

Edwards, you might recall, is promoting a boycott by Negro athletes of the 1968 Olympic Games that will be held in Mexico City.

The editorial mentioned that Edwards on behalf of the boycott had traveled to New York, Seattle, Los Angeles and other spots.

Your editor is among those who have wondered out loud when Edwards had time to teach at San Jose State. He seemed too busy gallivanting around the countryside to bother with classes.

It bothered us because he was being paid by the state, to teach, we assumed.

We hoped that this boycott routine was done on his own time. But in face of some incidents, we weren't sure.

The college finally cleared the air a wee bit.

It was officially announced that Edwards had not missed a class. But he did not have a full teaching load.

He also was going to take time off anyway to get his doctorate.

We are still undecided whether or not we were reassured by that announcement.

ANTICS BY VARIOUS college profs, in recent months, have been pretty kooky.

"Kooky" is the most charitable word we can use.

It really does not describe the situation as we see it.

But this is a family newspaper.

There are many things going on in the colleges today that we can't understand, including how some of the profs are acting.

Recently in chatting with Dr. John Gilbagh, the former dean at the college demoted to professor, we heard about some other activities that are taking place on the college campuses which should concern us all a great deal.

We readily admit that Dr. Gilbagh is a controversial figure, and is being accused of having a sour grape attitude because of his demotion.

However, if just one-tenth of the charges made by Gilbagh are true, a house-cleaning of the colleges would be in order.

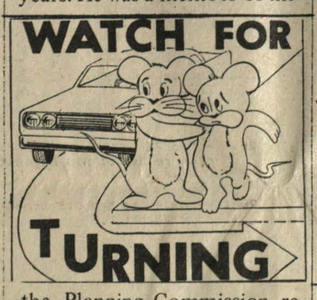
IN A WELL-WRITTEN letter that appears in today's paper, Merrill Grim, a planning commissioner, takes us to task for our reporting of the recent zone-change hassel in which the Planning Commission reversed itself.



Merrill articularly claims that our news stories on the subject were "slightly out of focus".

Merrill in his letter defends his position in what we think is the most unusual zoning "operation" to ever hit town.

But he really cut us with his last paragraph when he implied that he was tired of hearing about our own personal operation.

He didn't pull any stitches when he wrote: "Finally, George, I sincerely hope that we never have to go through an ordeal such as your operation, again".

We hope you don't either, Merrill.

But you didn't have to be so darn grim, Grim, about it.

RESOLUTION--Les Harmon (left) was presented with a resolution from the Campbell Rotary Club on Monday in appreciation of his 20-years service with the club. Harmon, who is moving to Sonoma, was given an honorary membership. Making the presentation was Bill Parton, current president.

Rotary honors Harmon

Lester W. (Les) Harmon, local real estate man, was honored by the members of Campbell Rotary Club at their luncheon meeting Monday noon, for his 20 years of devoted service.

The members adopted a resolution expressing appreciation for his loyal service and presented him an honorary membership in the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon are moving from Campbell in the near future to make their home in Sonoma with their daughter, Mrs. Anne Mathews.

Harmon, who resides at 127 Winslow Ct., Campbell, has been a member of Rotary since its beginning here in 1948. He served as president of the club in 1954-55. Harry Rediker and Sam Cava are the only other members to be granted honorary memberships.

Harmon has been active in community affairs for many years. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and served on the Campbell Planning Commission.

The Harmons also have two sons, Commander A.W. Harmon, USN., Washington, D.C. and J.S. Harmon, Dallas, Tex.

Letters to the Editor

ASKS EARLY SETTLERS PUBLICITY

Dear George:

Gosh, my first year as a participant in the "Early Settlers" luncheon at the Grange--and the affair is all but unrecognized by your paper!

I know the Congress for Community Progress crowded us out. But I did think you might make amends by running a picture and story in the last issue!

In former years you gave the impression of holding this honoring of the town's founders in high esteem! This year, particularly, the luncheon was a huge success from the standpoint of us old-timers. How come you didn't send someone over to catch some of the enthusiasm and write a real story?

Well, I suppose I do understand. But I still feel that thud of disappointment when I realized there just wasn't going to be a story!

Sincerely,
Laura Blaine Romer

OUT-OF-FOCUS

Dear George:

I feel that your recent articles about the rezoning of the Messina property on Latimer Avenue are slightly out of focus, factually. While the problem has been resolved by the City Council, I would like to offer my comments for your consideration.

You stated in your editorial that there was no new evidence presented at the March 4 planning commission meeting to warrant a decision any different from the original recommendation. As you will recall, George, the council chambers were filled with an overflow crowd of residents accompanied by a 275 signature petition against the zoning previously recommended.

At the original rezoning public hearing action, there was not one person to appear against the change in zoning, which is the reason for the unanimous approval at that time. The property involved was posted for public hearing according to the applicable City of Campbell codes, but this was apparently very ineffective, as most residents in the area did not learn of the planning commission action until after the hearing.

I considered these additional facts as sufficient to change my original vote on the matter, which incidentally was a satisfactory alternate solution to the developer Mr. Grattan, until he could firm up plans for the project.

I prefer not to go into the matter of "Taking a stand" and "changing of mind" and their implications concerning the City of Campbell.

I would, however, like to comment on the political aspect of this decision, or the "political overtones during the time the sticky matter was being considered" as you refer to it.

This implication was obviously pointed at Dean Chamberlin, on the Planning Commission level and it is definitely not true, Mr. Chamberlin, in my estimation, is the most perceptively analytical, civic minded member of the Commission, and the least inclined to consider politics in a planning decision. He judges an issue solely on its merits and planning policy.

Finally, George, I sincerely hope that we never have to go through an ordeal such as your operation, again.

Very truly yours,
Merrill Grim

It's science fair time

Campbell Union School District will hold its 11th annual Science Fair on Saturday, March 23 at Castlemont School. Approximately 225 students in grades four through eight in the district's 19 schools will participate.

This annual affair is looked upon as a school-community project. The Campbell Kiwanis Club generously donated the science fair banner. Last year Chief of Police John D. Morgan presented the awards.

The selection committee is made up of 27 members. At least one teacher from each school and representatives from the psychology, library, administrative and instructional staffs will be participating.

PUBLIC WELCOME

The district science fair will begin at 8 a.m. when the judges meet to discuss their selection teams and their division responsibilities. The judging of the projects will take place between 8:30 and 10 a.m. The displays may be viewed by the public between 9:45 and 1 noon.

At 12 o'clock there will be a special awards assembly in the multi-purpose room. There are ten separate judging divisions, five in the biological science areas, grades 4-8, and five in the physical science areas, grades 4-8.

SPECIAL DISPLAY

As a special attraction this year, there will be a special display of the major components of a Corporal Guided Missile during the district fair. There will also be a slide showing in one of the classrooms explaining the parts and functions of the missile.

The missile was purchased by the district's business manager, Charles E. Bradley from the State Agency for Surplus Property. Ernie Leick, supervisor of Buildings, Grounds and Equipment in the district, needed a 500 gal. storage tank for deisel fuel, and the missile was available with two such tanks. Consequently the district has a few surplus missile parts that will be of interest to many rocket-minded youngsters of all ages.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

During the years the fair has attracted more and more children and parents. It was estimated between 800-1000 attended last year when it was held at Rolling Hills School. The additional attendance has suggested more adequate floor space, so this year Castlemont School will make available its multi-purpose room, its large library, four to eight of its classrooms and the beautiful centrally-located courtyard which will display the rocket components.

Bill Scheide, a sixth grade teacher at Castlemont, and the school's science chairman, and one of the judges for the district-wide science fair, has selected six of his students to act as information guides, and projectionist-narrators to help the public get acquainted with the Corporal Guided Missile.

The Castlemont school's Service Squad will be very much in evidence during the district science fair helping participants register their projects, helping to direct and park cars, distributing programs and assisting in a dozen other ways. Dave MacLeod acting principal of Castlemont School is acting as the official host and is also coordinating the Awards Assembly.

TO RUN AGAIN--U.S.Rep. Charles Gubser (R-Gilroy) this week plans to file his nomination papers and will seek his ninth term as this area's representative in Washington, D.C. First elected in 1952 Gubser is one of his party's ranking members on the Armed Services Committee. Gubser served four years on the Post Office Committee.

showed that traffic on the streets warranted the station. He added that most of the major oil companies had already made overtures to him.

An interesting sidelight to the Planning Commission meeting was the appearance of Milt Hetzel, registered civil engineer and former city manager of Campbell, now a property consultant.

Hetzel represented Mrs. Adelaide Roberts, of 1190 Steinway, owner of two lots that are "landlocked" except for a 30-foot easement. A recent widow, Mrs. Roberts, Hetzel explained, is anxious to sell the lots to a party who will build on them but the city's permission is needed.

After a lengthy discussion, the matter was continued until City Attorney Joe Bonacina had an opportunity to explore all the legal ramifications involving the easements.

Gary Trimble earns Eagle Scout award

Gary M. Trimble, 1925 Harris Ave., San Jose, was presented the Eagle Scout Award at a Court of Honor conducted by Troop 318 of the Santa Clara Council, Boy Scouts of America, last Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Trimble participated in the ceremonies. Jack Trimble is also active in Boy Scouts, serving as a Commissioner in the Pioneer District.

The Scouts and parents of Troop 318 were given an insight into the accomplishment of Gary Trimble and the significance of the Eagle Award by Fred J. Logan, a member of the Eagle Association and former Mayor of Sunnyvale.

Gary Trimble has been a member of Troop 318, which meets at the Cambrian Youth Center, since September, 1965. The fact that he has earned the Eagle award at the age of 14 in a period of 30 months is indicative of his interest in Scouting and good citizenship.

Gary attends Camden High School and is a member of the school's Cadet Corps and Rifle Club.

SPORTS

The swim meet held with Branham in the Bruin pools came out as a splashing victory for Campbell. The final score was 51 to 44.

Firsts were taken by Mark Luoto in the 100 yd. back stroke, A division; Bill Ridgeway in the 50 yd. free style, A division; Garris Elkins in the 400 yd. free style, A division; Ross Meinhold in the 100 yd. free style, A division. The A division relay team also took a first. It was a great day for the swimmers. Coach Bill Augenstein brought the team to victory.

Their next meet was with the Del Mar Dons last Friday afternoon in the Don pool. The Bucs met their first defeat but the diving team performed well with a first taken by Jim Stillson and a second by Hoyt McEvoy.

Girl's Sports is currently involved with soccer and volleyball. The only other school with a girls' soccer team is Blackford and the Bucs soccer team defeated the Braves in a tournament held last week. The volleyball team hasn't done as well, losing to both Branham and Westmont.

Elections for representatives from Campbell to pick colors and mascot and develop a constitution for the new Prospect high school were held last Friday. The winners are Kevin Barnes, Kay Moraga, Jayne Palmquist and Peggy Olson. These students will meet every Tuesday after school at Blackford to decide on colors, mascot and constitution.

A meeting was held for juniors who plan to attend college was held recently. Gordon Brown from the Santa Cruz campus of the University of California spoke about college applications and admissions, and possible financial aids.

"An honor for the student, school, and CSF chapter", according to Chairman Finne, has been bestowed upon senior Kirk Cunningham, in the form of being the CSF chapter's regional nominee for the Seymour Memorial Award. This award, of which Kirk is one of four boys and four girls to be a finalist, is in dedication to Charles F. Seymour, co-founder of CSF.

Each spring a committee appointed by the Board of Directors selects the outstanding awardees from among the Sealbearer candidates. The selection is made on the basis of character, leadership and scholarship.

The final winner will be selected after an interview with the Seymour Committee at the Spring Conference on April 27, at Pittsburg. Kirk will attend the conference for an interview and results.

All the commotion in the outer quad after school hours is the result of the opening of spirit workshops, beginning this past Monday. Cheerleading and song girl workshops are being held to teach hopeful girls techniques to help them compose their own routines for tryouts.

Voting will be earlier than usual this year, with all decisions to be made by April 25. Applications were due Mar. 8, followed by the opening of workshops Mar. 18, and lasting until April 4.

Letter girl workshops will be held April 23 and 24.

The drama department is again busy, the present project being the all school play. To be presented April 19-20, "Onions in the Stew" tryouts were held last week. Also included in the cast are Sharon Dee, Linda Smith, Bryn Clark, Cherie Abbey, Suzette Jaggers, Joi Naud, Mike Work and Steve Boatwright. Rounding out the list of actors are Joe Mugdan, Debbie Williams, Sherri Soulsby, Anna Tucker and Beth Billmaier.

The play is concerned with the trials and tribulations of living on a lonely island, after having been accustomed to city life.

In their first match of the season, Camden's Varsity tennis team lost to St. Francis 5-2. Dennis Garvey and John Swan claimed the only victories. League competition has not begun yet, but will open in a match against Saratoga.

Thursday's home tournament gave Camden a 6 out of 8 score for the day. Teams were headed by Barb Roberts, Gayle Towner, Carol Bradford and Caren Daniels.

About a year ago in this column, I told of our efforts to put a halt to malicious and obscene calls. Today, I'm happy to report that the tide is turning in the battle against abusive telephone callers.

By working closely with police and local officials, giving many of our employees special training, and using a variety of new electronic devices, arrests and convictions have almost doubled in the past year.

The best advice I can offer you should you ever receive such a call, is to hang up. This usually deprives the annoyance caller of the main thing he wants—an audience. However, should the calls continue, I encourage you to call our Business Office.

With the increasing rise in convictions, the obscene and threatening caller is discovering that his chance of avoiding detection is growing slimmer every day.

Here's a helpful suggestion for you if you haven't filled out your income tax return as yet. The Internal Revenue Service again this year will be glad to answer questions by phone. If there's an IRS office near you, you'll find the number listed in the white pages of your Campbell phone book under the heading: "United States Government, Internal Revenue Service." Call them if you have a question.

Ventriloquist to entertain at church rally

Wes Stallings, ventriloquist entertainer from KNTV, channel 11, San Jose, will present a special program at the Campbell Baptist Church, 151 Sunnyside Ave., Sunday, March 24, 9:45 a.m. in the Sunday School.

This will be the opening of a six weeks contest with three other area schools and efforts are being made to get all the enrollment out, plus many visitors.

Wes Stallings has been making people laugh since 1952. Starting in radio as disc-jockey and sportscaster, he became interested in ventriloquy when asked to run a children's show.

The public is invited. No admission charge.

San Jose State alumni kick off fund drive

The San Jose State Alumni Office has formally kicked off the first phase of its annual fund drive labeled FEE–a Fund for Excellence in Education.

Chairman Patrick Spooner and the SJS Alumni Board of Directors have set a goal of $25,000 for the FEE Phase I campaign which involves personal solicitation of a number of the college's alumni living in the Santa Clara County area.

This Fund for Excellence in Education was established in 1964 to provide a source of "unrestricted" monies for the college's use in providing some of the refinements to the institution not possible with the funds provided by the State for the operation of SJS.

Action Realty has localites on sales staff

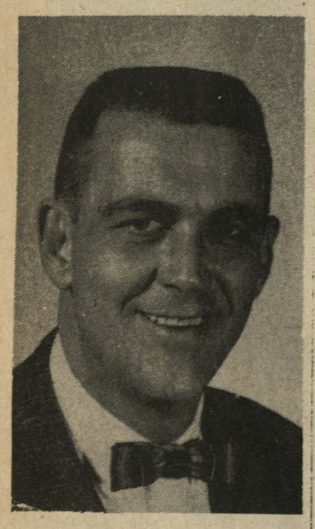
Action Realty, announces Jim Rector, is the new name of Action Associates Realtors, the firm that grew to nine offices from a two-office start in 18 months. At that beginning, Jim Rector merged his earlier Action Realty with Rector Realty owned by his father Walter Rector.

The Associates idea was used, Jim Rector explains, because he and his dad really prefer to treat their salesmen as associates rather than employees working for them. In this organization there is an effort to encourage cooperation and a spirit of working together.

The name change, then, is not because there is anything wrong with "Associates," but because they like the swinging, successful sound of "Action Realty." The co-owners want to get awareness of their success in selling homes and satisfying clients spread over the valley.

Salesmen numbering 60 in all, will meet at a monthly breakfast at the Sweden House on W. Campbell Ave.

Among the Action Realty sales staff are Curt Porter of Rose Court in Campbell. Mrs. Verna Del Bono of Williams Rd., Mrs. Rosemary Mansfield of Whitwood Lane, and owner Jim Rector resides at 113 Christopher Ave., Campell.

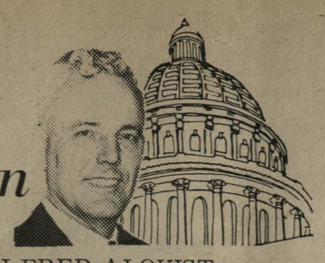


COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN--Harry Alexander of 151 Coventry Dr. heads the citizens committee interested in the re-election of Mayor Edward J. Rogers.

Alexander, committee chairman, has made his home in Campbell since 1957 and is a school principal in the San Jose Unified School District.

Alexander, a World War II bomber pilot, received his A.B. degree from San Jose State and his M.A. from Stanford University. He and his family are members of the Methodist Church here.

Capital Countdown



BY SENATOR ALFRED ALQUIST

As in the past, education will be a major issue during our 1968 legislative session, and particularly so because of the recent public opinion poll revealing the fact that Californians are placing more importance on education than any other facet of state government.

The tempo is now increasing in the capitol, and we are now considering a number of bills and resolutions attempting "to provide meaningful assistance to badly overburdened school districts".

One of the proposals would lengthen the school day by 30 minutes for the first three grades as a means of expanding special reading programs, especially in poverty areas. The present minimum day is 100 minutes.

The State Board of Education has recommended the additional time because our primary school youngsters seem to be learning to read at a slower rate than their counterparts in other states.

While there may be many other reasons for California's poor showing on the nationally administered tests, the shorter school day in California appears to be the most obvious difference.

Another bill would encourage the use of special criteria to identify gifted children who are culturally disadvantaged. Educators say many gifted children cannot be identified now by standardized examinations because of their home and community environment.

Education measures I have recently introduced include bills to increase state assistance to local districts for preprimary education programs and to junior colleges who are helping adults train for better jobs.

One of these bills (SB 214) aims at correcting inequities in state apportionment for so-called "defined adults"–students over 21 taking less than 10 units. The measure excludes from the definition veterans, members of the armed forces, persons in training or retraining to obtain a job, and employed persons who are self-supporting. If passed, the bill will substantially benefit San Jose City College and other colleges with strong adult and vocational programs.

Another bill provides for state financial aid for classes held on Saturday. Such classes may soon be a necessity at San Jose City College because of overcrowding. Present law does not provide for state support of Saturday classes.

Both measures, if passed, will reduce the pressure on local property taxpayers.

Also in the field of education, the Senate has just passed SB 1 intended to give local school districts more flexibility in arranging curriculum in elementary and high schools.

A similar measure passed the upper house last year, but died in a joint conference committee.

Another measure which would have removed selection of elementary school textbooks from the State Board of Education and placed it in the hands of local boards was sidetracked in the lower house last week.

Local "Cal" graduates invited to observe charter alumni week

To celebrate a century's achievements and progress the Berkeley campus of the University of California will be alive with a galaxy of cultural, ceremonial, athletic and social activities for alumni from Mar. 21 to Mar. 24.

Throughout the celebration, tours of the campus, of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, and of the new Space Sciences Laboratory will be available at your convenience. There will also be films of historic and athletic events as well as numerous exhibits. Housing will be available in the residence halls.

Highlights of the centennial events will be a concert by the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Josef Krips; an American Conservatory Theater production of "Under Milkwood" by Dylan Thomas; lectures by distinguished faculty members such as Alan Dundes, Mark Schorer, Peter Selz and Edward Teller.

The California Alumni Club of Santa Clara County will have a table at the charter alumni banquet Saturday, Mar. 23. For reservations and further information call 354-2851 or 356-3077. A grand ball with music by Count Basie will climax the festivities.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

In last week's column I mentioned the great proliferation of federal programs directed at helping the poor and eliminating racial ghettos. These figures show that federal aid to the poor increased 290% in eight years.

Today's ON CAPITOL HILL will explore a few specifics on the federal government's efforts at solving housing problems and also the poverty program in Detroit, the scene of last year's heavy rioting.

President Johnson has outlined seven housing programs to produce 300,000 new housing units in the next fiscal year and 26 million units in ten years. But the famous Kerner Commission on Civil Disorders recently doubled the ante to recommend a crash program to build the same number in five years.

Housing and Urban Development Secretary Weaver has frankly called the achievement of this ambitious goal "improbable." In light of past performances on federal housing programs he may be correct. Here is the record.

PROMISE: Under the Housing Act of 1949 Congress appropriated the money to produce 135,000 public housing units per year with a goal of 810,000 in six years.

What has PERFORMANCE been? Now after almost twenty years only 675,000 units have actually been made available.

PROMISE: Under the Housing Act of 1965 Congress authorized and appropriated funds for 60,000 low income housing units per year with a projected total of 240,000 units by 1969.

PERFORMANCE: in 1967 despite full appropriations by Congress, only 35,000 units had been built per year–a far cry from the 60,000 promised, authorized and financed.

PROMISE: Since 1965 Congress has appropriated $42 million for the rent supplement program which is designed to provide housing for low income persons.

PERFORMANCE: Only $89,019 of the $42 million has been paid to 1,663 rent supplement housing units. Significantly, 1,309 of these units were constructed by churches and non-profit groups as housing for the elderly, and, in a bookkeeping transaction, were transferred at a later date to the rent supplement program. Therefore, only 354 housing units have actually been provided under the rent supplement program.

PROMISE: The war on poverty was started to help the poor everywhere and particularly in big cities like Detroit.

PERFORMANCE: A special committee of the Michigan Legislature composed of a majority of Democrats headed by Representative James Del Rio (D-Detroit) has reported on Detroit's poverty program. The Democratic controlled committee said: "One of the most serious frauds one can commit upon the poor is to promise something you do not or cannot deliver. The receipts and disbursements for 1965-1966 fiscal years reveal the same picture. There is so little money left for the poor after salaries and fixed overhead that one can no longer refer to this fact as an irregularity - one must call it what it is - a fraud."

Such reports on existing programs to help the poor cause me to repeat the question I asked last week: "I wonder if this nation isn't promising more than it can deliver?"

Westmont Whirl

By Laura Vierra

An assembly was held last week for all students who will be attending Prospect High School in the fall. Westmont and Prospect hope to have keen competition through the 1968-69 season. Applications for Prospect representatives are now being taken. Students wishing to be on the committee which will help decide school colors, name and forming a constitution apply now.

SPORTS

Our baseball teams played Thursday and Friday. Our Frosh-Soph was victorious over St. Francis with a score of 5-4. The Varsity was defeated by Irvington with a score of 2-0. Their next games will be Thursday.

Westmont's track teams were victorious in their efforts against Los Gatos. The final score was 108-28. The next track meet will be Friday at Leigh.

Our swimming teams were also victorious in their meet Thursday.

The Sadie Hawkin's Dance was a big success last Friday. Music was by "The Chosen Few."

The Junior Prom committee has chosen "Gone With the Wind" as their theme for this year's Junior Prom to be held May 4.

Del Mar Dateline

by Glenda Vitale

A question-answer "computer" will be featured at the Computer Dance, to be held on April 5. During the course of the evening, each person will be matched up to four people–his ideal date.

Questionnaires can be purchased this week–$1 for Student body card holders, and $1.50 for non-student body card holders. Non Del Mar students can also participate by having a friend pick up a questionnaire for them.

Del Mar, representing Region III, came in third this weekend in the Central Coast tournament at Stanford. Santa Curz came in first, Fremont, second and Hillsdale fourth.

SPORTS

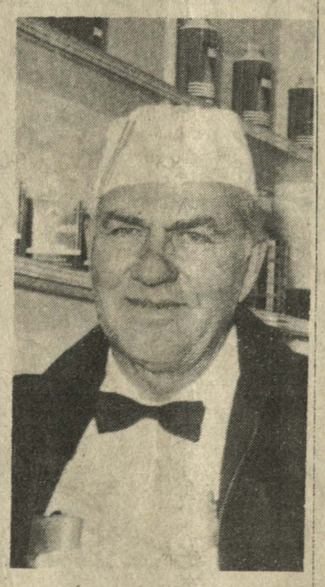
Last Friday was certainly a sports-oriented day. Besides the basketball game, Del Mar participated in a Varsity baseball game with Soquel, and tied; Frosh-Soph baseball game and won; a swim meet with Campbell, and won; and a track meet with Campbell and won.

It looks like Senior pranks are starting early this year. They did a beautiful job of "TPing" the entire school Sunday night, and leaving 12 garbage cans standing on the roof, as a monument to the Class of '68.

Del Mar's AFS Club is presenting its second annual International festival this Friday in the cafetorium. The festivities will begin at 6 p.m. with International cuisine served in the sidewalk cafe, the German "Biergarten", and the Spanish Inn. Entertainment will begin at 7. The cost is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 12 yrs. Everyone is invited.

Lyell Darton has 30 years with Standard Oil

If the tall slender man greeting his customers at the new Chevron Service Station at Winchester and Parr Ave. looks familiar, it's because Lyell Darton just "retired" as manager of a Saratoga Standard Station and rounded out thirty three years with that company, thirty of them in the West Valley.

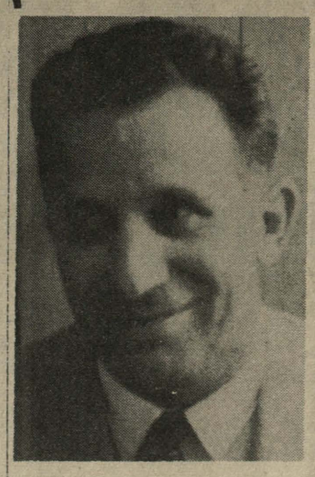


LYELL DARTON

Darton will have a special greeting on Friday and Saturday for customers as he holds a grand opening ceremony, complete with an 11 a.m. appearance by Bo Bo the Clown and drawings for prizes such as an electric hair dryer, an electric skillet and an electric knife. Candy and pop for small fry will be given.

Five experienced men will staff the station, whose grounds have already been carefully landscaped in accordance with the surrounding countryside.

New minister called



REV. BRUCE GRUBAUGH

Rev. Bruce Grubaugh has been appointed minister of the First Christian Church, 1975 Pollard, Campbell. He succeeds Rev. Don Stram who resigned last summer to accept a pastorship in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Rev. Grubaugh, who took over his duties here on March 1 has been serving as minister of the Central Christian Church in Bakersfield for the past 3 and one half years. Before that he was at Tehachapi, Calif. He was ordained in January, 1962 in Lancaster, where he had been serving as an elder.

The new minister will attend San Jose Bible College as time permits. He reports plans for the church include expansion of the education building. The First Christian Church has a congregation of 130 members and facilities for all ages.

PROPERTY TAXES

The second installment of the 1967-68 real estate taxes is now due and payable and must be paid by April 10, 1968 to avoid payment of the 6% penalty and a $3.00 cost charge.

It is suggested that payment be mailed as far in advance of April 10 as possible to assure a postmark prior to that date. Payments postmarked after April 10 will be returned to the taxpayer and will require the additional payment of the 6% penalty and $3.00 cost per parcel, in accordance with State Law.

Owners who have recently purchased property should check to see that the second installment is paid, since only the first installment may have been paid in escrow. In addition, the owner should determine whether he or the lending agency is to pay the taxes. All property is subject to taxes, even though a bill may not have been received.

Payments should be mailed or may be made in person at the office below.
